Representatives of the Beta Sigma Phi sorority appeared before the directors of the Adams County Free Library at their March meeting Friday evening and presented a check for $375 representing the proceeds of the library-benefit Valentine dance sponsored by the sorority.

The board president, the Rev. Nevil R. Franz, expressed the library's appreciation for the contribution to its building fund after formal presentation of the check was made by Miss Dorothy Shetter, chairman of the dance committee. She was presented by Mrs. Ray Culp, sorority president.

Mrs. Culp told the board the sorority plans an annual Valentine dance as a library benefit and disclosed plans for a spring fashion show which also will be for the benefit of the library.

The librarian, Mrs. William H. Snyder, told the board the new charging desk ordered last month is nearly ready for use and Director Clarence C. Smith reported the veterans' memorial plaque for the library has been ordered.

The library turned down temporarily a request for use of the library by "Great Books" club with the explanation that present facilities and library service do not make possible such accommodations at the library. The board expressed the hope that in the future the library may offer meeting facilities for library or other appropriate groups in the community.

FORMER COUNTY MAN "SNOWED IN" ON RANCH

Herbert Trimmer, former resident of East Berlin, who now operates a ranch at Sumas, Wash., was "snowed in" for more than a week this winter before highway crews opened his road, according to a letter received recently by Mrs. Mary Stambaugh and her daughter, Grace, of East Berlin. Mr. Trimmer is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter Trimmer of that borough.

"I guess you have heard about the storm we had here, the worse in history," wrote Mr. Trimmer. "It was five degrees below zero for about a week and around ten above for two weeks, and we had heavy snows and drifts. I was snowed in for over a week until a bulldozer cleared my road to the main highway."

Losses Electricity

"I have a small John Deere crawler with shovel and drum and 14-inch tracks, and with that large a track I could crawl over the snowdrifts. Then the electric went off on January 12, and not until January 27 was it on again and then but six hours a day.

"I had to carry water to the stock. The kitchen is all electric, so I had to cook on a small camp stove. I have oil heat in the living room, but the oil truck was to be at my place Tuesday and he failed to get here. When the storm set in and it hit five below, I had about five gallons of oil in the tanks, so I mixed gas with it and just as soon as I could get out, I was packing oil in five-gallon cans from neighbors until the main road was opened."

The Lynden valley was sure a mess with telephone and electric poles and wire all over the roads. Looks like spider webs in some places. We had a silver thaw for two days and at night you could hear the trees breaking from the ice on them. Trees six inches in diameter would snap off about halfway up due to the weight of ice. The last few days it has been thawing; today it was 45 degrees above and nice.

The play was a quick compromise by Love and Moses with Lewis. The southern operators had decided to sign up with the union on the best terms they could get.

George H. Love, representing the northern and western operators, and Harry Moses, representing steel interests, reportedly figured the time had come to do business with Lewis.

The result was a quick compromise by Love and Moses with Lewis. The southern operators were left out in the cold and presented with an accomplished fact. But there was little doubt the Dixie group would match the terms.

NEW THREATS AGAINST BERAN BY CZECH REDS

By NATE POLOWETZKY

Prague, Czechoslovakia, March 4.—Czechoslovakia's Communist government has threatened new state action to curb what it describes as the anti-state campaign of archbishop Josef Beran and his four Catholic bishops.

Minister of Justice Alexei Cepicka, who also is minister of church affairs, opened a new blot at the Catholic hierarchy yesterday in an open letter to Archbishop Beran, primate of Czechoslovakia.

"He charged Beran with 'working for a long time to spread disruption and inclement'."

Letter Illegal

In the first place, the archbishop's letter, circulated by the bishops throughout this predominantly Catholic land, was considered illegal. The government has banned all publication of pastoral letters and seized the church's press.

But Beran, 71, says he has been interned at his palace since last June, has managed to distribute letters through his bishops in order to carry on the struggle against the government's campaign to bring the church under its complete control.

"It is no secret," said Cepicka's letter, distributed by the government-controlled Czech news agency, "that you (Beran) make malicious attempts at inciting and stirring people up against the people's democratic regime by these illegal circular letters and pastoral letters without permission x x x."

union in wages and welfare fund money, there were the other main features reported in the agreement:

1. Lewis is to be replaced on the three-man board of trustees over the welfare fund by Thomas Kennedy, the union's vice president. The other two trustees would be Moses, representing the industry, and Miss Josephine Roche, who has been Lewis' director of the fund.

2. Welfare benefits are to be limited to union members. Operators had challenged a similar clause in the former contract as illegal, but reportedly agreed to it again.

3. The union shop, requiring miners to belong to the UMW, stays in effect. Operators also has contended this illegal.

4. Memorial stoppages after mine disasters are to be limited to five days a year. Lewis had used this clause in the past to call frequent strikes.

5. The clause saying miners work only when "able and willing" is rewritten. This also had provided a union excuse for strikes. Rewarding of the language—originally intended to relieve the UMW of legal responsibility for local strikes—was one of the details remaining to be worked out.

NEW THREATS AGAINST BERAN BY CZECH REDS

BY NATE POLOWETZKY

Prague, Czechoslovakia, March 4 — Czechoslovakia's Communist government has threatened new legal action to curb what it describes as the anti-state campaign of archbishop Josef Beran and his Roman Catholic bishops.

Minister of Justice Alexei Cepicka, who also is minister of church affairs, opened a new blast at the Catholic hierarchy yesterday in an open letter to Archbishop Beran, nunciatus of Czechoslovakia.

He charged Beran with "working for a long time to spread disruption and incitement."

This latest state attack on the church was prompted by a circular letter from the prelate forbidding Czech priests to attend discussions with government representatives and threatening them with excommunication if they accepted government posts without prior approval of the church.

In the first place, the archbishop's letter, circulated by the bishops throughout this predominantly Catholic land, was considered illegal.

Coach Fiszel's three long shots against the Hershey zone defense gave Gettysburg a 7-2 margin in the first quarter with Dayhoff contributing a foul. Hershey's points came on a goal by Pellegrini after four minutes.

The only scores of the second frame were goals by Dayhoff and Pellegrini as the locals led 9-4 at half time.

Scoring Quicks:

Pellegrini and Bender exchanged goals. After Beegle looped a foul Evans looped a double-decker for Hershey. Fiszel connected on a long toss and Dayhoff slipped in close for another goal. Pellegrini tallied for Hershey as the period ended 18-12.

Goals by Pellegrini and Pasquali cut the local lead to 18-16 and after a time-out Skinner followed up a missed foul for a goal and shortly afterwards landed a foul. Pellegrini and Skinner came through with goals and Pellegrini landed his seventh goal on a long shot to make the count 23-20. With a minute remaining Bender looped a foul and just before the game ended Skinner hit on a long one-hander.

All of Coach Herr's boys played in basketball while Pellegrini was outstanding for Hershey.

Hershey's junior varsity was in command all the way in winning the nightcap although Waynesboro kept within striking distance most of the way.

BUBBLERS TAKE CAGE TOURNEY; CANNERS WIN

A long shot from midcourt by Fred Fiszel with but three seconds of play remaining gave Boiling Springs high a 20-29 victory over East Berlin in the championship game of the initial Adams County cage tournament Friday evening on the Biglerville floor.

The Bubblers' victory gave them a clean sweep in the circuit, Coach Bud Ecker's outfit having also won the regular league championship.

Warren Zimmerman's East Berlin team threatened to pull a big upset as it led throughout the first three periods only to collapse going into the final frame. At the start of the last period East Berlin was out in front 23-16.

Biglerville, runner-up to Boiling Springs in the regular league season, encountered little trouble in winning the preliminary consolation game from Newville 44-27.

Displaying a well-balanced attack, Coach Haas' Canners zoomed off to a 20-4 lead in the first quarter and maintained a wide margin until the finish.

Delone Catholic high suffered a crushing 62-36 setback at the hands of the Harrisburg Catholic cagers Friday evening at Harrisburg.

Coach Jim Witmer's Squires fell behind 14-8 in the first period and were never a serious threat thereafter.

Mickey Palcone hit the cords for 29 points for the Crusaders while Sheaffer netted nine to pace Delone.

The Delone reserves won the opening game 43-39.

Delone will close its season next

Forfeited money was collected from the various teams in the league and a change in the by-laws was voted.

Previously the wording of the by-laws had mentioned the "place where they reside" as the residence of players. The change makes the by-laws read "legal residence," which was defined by the group to mean the voting residence in the case of players over 21 and the home of his parents for players under 21. Managers said the change was made because the previous wording would have permitted players to be brought from other sections to play on the teams.

A vote on whether the league should remain closed or not was taken, with the group agreeing to remain closed. President Dawson presided.

CANNERS TRIUMPH

The Biglerville junior high cagers swamped New Oxford 38-12 in a game played Thursday at Biglerville.

The 25-year-old outfielder got only three hits with the Phals last year but they made a big impression. All were home runs.

And he is still hitting them hard in spring camp.

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 4 (P) — Coach Jimmy Dykes is determined that, come what may, the Philadelphia Athletics' players will be able to run long and hard.

Running has replaced callisthenics in the A's camp.

While Manager Connie Mack watches approvingly, Dykes ordered the panting A's to sprint—and sprint some more—today. It is two laps around the field for everyone at the beginning of each training session, and 10 minutes more of running at the end of the day.

San Bernardino, Calif., March 4 (P) — Manager Bill Meyer today picked the six Pittsburgh Pirate pitchers who will take their first turn on the mound in the initial inter-squad game of the spring training season.

Meyer named Mel Queen, Forrest Main, Hal Gregg, Vic Lombardi, Bill MacDonald and Elmer Riddle.

Pitcher Murry Dickson won't take part in drills for the next few days because of the death of his brother-in-law.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

ON BEING SOMEONE ELSE

I presume that we all have, at some time in our lives, wished that we could have been someone else. I envied a tenor singing in my father's church in my youth, and so the way he combed his hair and the type of shoes that he chose made me want to imitate him. But how soon that fancy died away! Years later, as I learned of this man's career I was glad that I stayed as I was born.

It is well that each of us bears in mind the fact that we are unique! It is what we do with what we are that gives us our station in life, or that marks us for distinction. And how surprised the world often is over what an unknown becomes! How surprised even we are at the outcome of our lives. Most people, who have efficiently used the talents accorded them by their Creator, wish only that they could have been a better self, rather than to have been transferred to the self of some one else.

Fortunately, abilities are widely scattered. The germ, or seed, of greatness lies buried in many a humble birth. Be yourself, without hoping to borrow from anyone else, and you are bound to reap the fullest rewards for which you were put into this world.

There is genuine pride, and rare distinction, in the development of the one personality that is ours, and ours alone. If we have done well in this, over the years, we have done much. We will have proved true to our heritage, at least. We know a great deal about ourselves—but very little about others. It's a lifetime job just to make something worthy out of the life that is ours.

In trying to be someone else we may lose ourselves! But in the constant development of ourselves we keep finding ourselves anew. Many a one actually doesn't discover himself until well on in life—but when he does, it is the major event of his life.

As a unique individual you are interesting. You are full of possibilities. But you barter away this interest the moments that you try to borrow the possessions of someone else. Be yourself on the broad scale! Stand out for all that you are.

Germany Wants to Rule Central Europe: Berlin, March 27—Germany will fight until Britain and France recognize a "German Monroe doctrine" for central Europe and restore her war-lost colonies—this was described by sources who knew Adolf Hitler's mind as the burden of the message he delivered today to President Roosevelt's emissary, Sumner Welles.

Another point in the message given by the fuhrer to the American undersecretary of state in their 94-minute conference in the chancellery was understood to be that England must renounce "her strangle-hold control" of the strategic lines to the world's raw materials.

Hitler was said to have argued further that disarmament must begin by England's relinquishing military control of Gibraltar, the Suez canal and other strategic points held in the midst of non-British territories.

Major Henry reported that the Gettysburg officer completed the course with a grade of 85 and proved to be an apt and conscientious student.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

ON BEING SOMEONE ELSE

I presume that we all have, at some time in our lives, wished that we could have been someone else. I envied a tenor singing in my father's church in my youth, and so the way he combed his hair and the type of shoes that he chose made me want to imitate him. But how soon that fancy died away! Years later, as I learned of this man's career I was glad that I stayed as I was.

It is well that each of us bears in mind the fact that we are unique! It is what we do with what we are that gives to us our station in life, or that marks us for distinction. And how surprised the world often is over what an unknown becomes!

Surprised even we are at the outcome of our lives. Most people, who have efficiently used the talents accorded them by their Creator, only that they could have been a better self, rather than to have been transferred to the self of some one else.

Fortunately, abilities are widely scattered. The germ, or seed, of greatness lies buried in many a humble birth. Be yourself, without hoping to borrow from anyone else, and you are bound to reap the fullest rewards for which you were put into this world.

There is genuine pride, and rare distinction, in the development of the one personality that is ours, and ours alone. If we have done well in this, over the years, we have done much. We will have proved true to our heritage, at least. We know a great deal about ourselves—but very little about others. It's a lifetime job just to make something worthy out of the life that is ours.

In trying to be someone else we may lose ourselves! But in the constant development of ourselves we keep finding ourselves anew. Many a one actually doesn't discover himself until well on in life—but when he does, it is the major event of his life.

As a unique individual you are interesting. You are full of possibilities. But you barter away this interest the moments that you try to borrow the possessions of someone else. Be yourself on the broad scale! Stand out for all that you are.

A favor is something that's good to bestow;
But ask one, and then it's a debt

Many motorists are having heavier duty shock absorbers installed as a means of getting a better ride, but the changeover should be made only if the car can't be made to ride well with its original equipment. . . . Then there is that St. Louis used car ad which announced that "if you want beef, go to a packing house, but for a good steer see us". . . . This business of changing models annually seems to be economically unsound considering the fact that one company has just spent 23 million dollars for the 1950 line. . . . The favor you grant you should promptly forget;
But the favor you ask you may later regret.

If you seek admittance to ball game or show,
Step up to the window and pay as you go.

Beware of fine gifts. They may not be for you,
But for something that's wanted which you shouldn't do.

My boy, unto others try helpful to be:
But ask for a favor, no longer you're free.

Germany Wants to Rule Central Europe: Berlin, March 2 (AP)—Germany will fight until Britain and France recognize a "German Monroe doctrine" for central Europe and restore her war-lost colonies—this was described by sources who knew Adolf Hitler's mind as the burden of the message he delivered today to President Roosevelt's emissary, Sumner Welles.

Another point in the message given by the führer to the American undersecretary of state in their 94-minute conference in the chancellery was understood to be that England must renounce "her strangle-hold control" of the strategic lanes to the world's raw materials. . . .

Hitler was said to have argued further that disarmament must begin by England's relinquishing military control of Gibraltar, the Suez canal and other strategic points held in the midst of non-British territories. . . .

You certainly get a lot for your money these days—or haven't you tried parking it lately?

Keep 'Em Braking

One of the drawbacks to super-high motoring is the fact that the brakes are used so little they may not be in normal condition when a safe, sure well-equalized stop is required. A good rule is to test the brakes every now and again, even if you do not need to slow down. Even if you only apply them lightly this will condition the shoes and warn the drums for normal action. Because they are used so little explains why the brakes often pull the car to the right or left when a quick stop is ordered. Some of the trouble with rear brakes may be due to greasing working to the lining from an overfilled differential. On some cars hubs can leak out of the transmission and run down the enclosed propeller shaft tube to overflow the rear end.

Oil Is A Cushion

Adequate oiling of moving parts of the engine helps toward silencing more than most of us realize. Sometimes we have a hint of it by the way a motor clatters when cold and before the oil has a chance to flow freely; then again noise may show up after the oil has become overheated and thus thinned down. Now we have further evidence of the cushioning effect of oil in the announcement of a new valve lifter to cut tapet noise on overhead valve engines. The principle of operation is simple enough. By diverting a little of the oil flow through the new lifter a little cushion of oil is maintained between the ball of the lifter and the cup.

Picked Up Enroute

Many motorists are having heavier duty shock absorbers installed as a means of getting a better ride, but the changeover should be made only if the car can't be made to ride well with its original equipment. . . . Mechanic Joe Speaking:

"Sticky" action of the accelerator pedal can be disturbing to any driver and it will sometimes cause erratic motor action, especially when the motor is supposed to be idling. Often the accelerator linkage merely needs a little oiling or cleaning. Occasionally the throttle shaft itself is found to be binding. Care must be taken when freeing this because a loose throttle shaft can be a source of air leakage to over-lean the mixture.

Chapter 13

She didn't tell her father that she had seen Tony briefly and he had told her they couldn't get married until he had made some money, but that might come quickly as soon as the courts opened again in the fall. In answer to her direct question he told her he had a case or two but didn't want to discuss it until he had proved what he could do. She let it go at that, because he seemed much happier, and merely told him the house was always open to him. In fact, he retained his key. It gave her a strange feeling of security when he showed it to her.

It was August before Don Carey put in his appearance at the house. She had just finished dressing for dinner in her front bedroom overlooking the street when she glanced out and saw him get out of a big sport car and ring the bell. He had a cog under each arm.

She could tell by the roaring greeting that Don had not been forgotten. Every day the boys had asked when Don was coming, and she had been glad to say he was out with the cowboys. Now he was there. She could hear Mary, all excitement over the dogs, and her father crying. "You must stay to dinner. We shall lock you in with us if we must. We have been waiting for you, my dear sir. And where is Annie? Boys, find Annie and tell her Mr. Carey is here at last."

She heard them start up the stairs, shrieking. "Don is here! Don is here!" She darted into the bathroom, since no place else was sacred to them. That at least had been Celia's teaching. She could hear them talking excitedly, wondering what to do. They knew not to call out. Also, she was sure they wouldn't wait with the dogs below. Sure enough, it was no time before she heard them dashing downstairs again. Going into the hall, she could hear them heading for the back yard. A glance from the bathroom window was enough. It gave her her chance. She slipped down the stairs and out into the hot street. She would go home when the car was gone from in front of the door. Her running out on him might be a hint even he could grasp.

But of course it wasn't. A couple of hours later she went home and the house was empty. He had paled everyone, including Mary, into his big convertible. And the eggs, of course. A note in Roger's box sprouting hand explained they were all going for a ride but would be back. A big dinner plate piled high satisfied her hunger, but the house seemed emptier than ever before. She went into the yard and saw two dog houses there with names over the doors Pat and Mike. She added the rest of the rhyme instantly. "Pat and Mike, they look alike." The twins would love that. So would Roger, for all his sophistication, and Mary for all her simplicity. Don Carey was a born schemer. There was no other word for it. But she had missed dinner with him anyway.

It got dark and still, the dogs came. The phone rang and it was Tony. The sound of his voice was sheer music to her ears. She wanted him to come over at once.

He laughed. Yes, he actually laughed. He had a better idea and wanted her to join him downtown. They could eat or dance or go to a theater—anything she wanted. She agreed instantly. If they could go out and leave the house wide open she could do the same thing. As in all English basement houses, the ground floor windows were barred, and that was enough.

The telephone rang as she was leaving but she laughed at it. She had already gotten everything she wanted from the telephone. Outside in the street she could hear it ringing, and she laughed again as she nailed a tax. Tony had said she must come in a taxi. That was his only mistake. She had told her sometimes only trust has happened to him.

The car driver threw her a grin as they waited for a light. You must be very happy. You laugh as if you meant it.

"I do I'm going to meet my fiancée. He's a lucky guy whether he knows it or not."

"I feel I am just, too. He's a lawyer."

"No wonder. Them guys make dooh! Plenty of it. All you gotta do is save the right guy's neck. Lookit that guy Burns they caught red-handed in them moneys the other day. He's got plenty. A smart lawyer saves him from the hot seat an' he's made. The do re mi just flows into your pockets. I wish I was a lawyer."

But you wouldn't fight to save a gangster like that Burns?"

"Why not? Money is money. Do I ask you where you get the dough to pay me?" No I say. "Thank you, ma'am. When you got it you got it. I heard a big shot tellin' somebody that the other night. Livin' where you flagged me you must know Judge Clancy. He runs that police club an' he's smart. He was tellin' this young lawyer. He's a guy I used to go to school with. He was gonna set the word on fire but he's havin' trouble now. You gotta get the breaks. Me, I make more than he does. But he can't get the breaks while I am a huckster to the day I die. You might know Tony Raymond."

She spoke very quietly. "Tom better than any note."

She was no longer rigid as she stared in frank amazement.

"You lent Tony Raymond five thousand dollars?"

Don smiled. "I was most happy to accommodate him."

She caught her breath. "What could he want that much money for?"

"I didn't ask, Anne, but he did say it was for office expenses."

"How can he repay that much money?" Don, why did you let him have it? No wonder he hasn't come to see me."

"He has been very busy, Anne."

"You mean he has really had a case? A real case in court?"

"Don't you really know, Anne? Haven't you seen the evening papers?"

wires and old connections increase resistance. That's where a relay which allows more direct feed from battery to lights is desirable. It serves a purpose entirely different from that of the voltage and current regulator.

I have been told that the reason the engine of my car is using so much oil is because the new block I had installed shortly after the war was "soft." Is there such a thing as a soft block? N. M.

A there was quite a run of soft blocks after the war. These are the kind which have not been sufficiently "seasoned." However, your oil mileage could be due to poor oiling.

Q Recently I equipped my new car with a special gadget to boost the ignition output, but I see no improvement in starting nor in gas mileage. Have I installed it properly? Sketch is enclosed. H. S.

A. There is no need for any booster on a motor that is properly tuned and in normal condition. You will find that actually it would be desirable to install one of the special electrical devices for cutting down the primary current in cold weather so as to prevent the formation of blue oxide on the breaker points.

Q Why is it that after driving slowly in high gear as in heavy traffic the engine backs when I try to accelerate. It seems to load up with gas although I have leaned out the idling mixture. Recently had the acceleration pump of the carburetor rebuilt but this hasn't helped. Any ideas? T. K. C.

A. The first "hiccups" occurs to me is that the motor is pumping oil and that when you run slowly several of the spark plugs become temporarily fouled. There might also be valve sticking.

Q What would cause the engine to go dead suddenly, and then start up again? Often happens on turns. The fuel pump is new J. M. or A. Leslie like a case of carburetor boat shackle.

Mr. Russell will answer questions regarding the safe care and operation of your car. Just address him at 254 Fern street, West Hartford, Conn., and enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope for a personal reply. There is no charge.

"My stable has plenty of room for them."

"Any of course your house has plenty of room for the children."

"Of course. And you?"

He said it lightly and his eyes were still laughing but she stopped smiling and drew a deep steady breath. Her voice came softly but firmly.

"I don't think your mother would approve of your plans, Don."

"As a matter of fact, the ponies were her suggestion at the time I came back from Montana."

Don I am serious, Roger and the twins want you here all the time, but be kind enough to come out empty-handed for a while. I mean with nothing at all. Test the twins and assure yourself that their welcome will be not one whit less enthusiastic."

"How beautifully you use words like your father."

I'm sure you have a very good memory, Don. Remember I told you I loved Tony Raymond and was going to marry him."

"I have met Tony Raymond. I feel I should. We are friends now. Yes, I know he will say that, too, if you ask him."

She sat looking at him, her hands folded in her lap. "I suppose you know I haven't seen Tony since the day you brought the news."

He told me he had been neglecting you."

Then he knows you are coming here regularly."

"Of course. I feel I should tell him that."

She leaned toward him. "Just why did you feel you should tell Tony that you have been coming here to see Father and the twins?"

He looked straight into her eyes.

"You said I have a good memory, Anne. It is true. You told me you were going to marry Tony Raymond. When I realized how I felt about you, I felt I had to get to know him. When I saw the kind of man he was I felt I should tell him I was coming here to see you."

She sat rigid. "Could you tell me what kind of man my fiancée is?"

"I'm interested in your opinion, since you seem to have seen more of him than I have lately."

"I'll give you that gladly. When he asked me to lend him five thousand dollars on a personal note, I was happy to write out a check at once and tell him his word was

7,800 IN V.A. TO LOSE JOBS

Washington, March 4 (P) — The Veterans Administration said Friday it is firing 7,800 employees because it lacks money to pay them.

The dismissals will be nationwide. Approximately 3,000 employees in hospitals and homes and 4,000 in other activities are included, VA said.

Managers of VA field stations will be told Monday of the number they will be required to release. Dismissal notices will be handed out by March 10.

A VA statement said immediate action to cut the force is necessary because (1) the agency is short of salary funds for the rest of the current fiscal year ending June 30; and (2) there would not be enough

Chapter 13

She didn't tell her father that she had seen Tony briefly and he had told her they couldn't get married until he had made some money, but that might come quickly as soon as the courts opened again in the fall. In answer to her direct question he told her he had a case or two but didn't want to discuss it until he had proved what he could do. She let it go at that, because he seemed much happier, and merely told him the house was always open to him. In fact, he retained his key. It gave her a strange feeling of security when he showed it to her.

It was August before Don Carey put in his appearance at the house. She had just finished dressing for dinner in her front bedroom overlooking the street when she glanced out and saw him get out of a big sport car and ring the bell. He had a dog under each arm.

She could tell by the roaring greeting that Don had not been forgotten. Every day the boys had asked when Don was coming and she had been glad to say he was out with the cowboys. Now he was there. She could hear Mary, all excitement over the dogs, and her father crying. "You must stay to dinner. We shall look you in with us if we must. We have been waiting for you, my dear sir. And where is Annie? Boys, find Anne and tell her. Mr. Carey is here at last."

She heard them start up the stairs, shrieking. "Don is here! Don is here!" She darted into the bathroom, since no place else was sacred to them. That at least had been Celia's teaching. She could hear them talking excitedly, wondering what to do. They knew not to call out. Also, she was sure they wouldn't wait, with the dogs below. Sure enough, it was no time before she heard them dashing downstairs again. Going into the hall, she could hear them heading for the back yard. A glance from the bathroom window was enough. It gave her her chance. She slipped down the stairs and out into the hot street. She would go home when the car was gone from in front of the door. Her running out on him might be a hint even he could grasp.

But of course it wasn't. A couple of hours later she went home and the house was empty. He had pied everyone, including Mary, into his big convertible. And the dogs, of course. A note in Roger's big sprawling hand explained they were all going for a ride but would be back. A big dinner plate piled high satisfied her hunger, but the house seemed emptier than ever before. She went into the yard and saw two dog houses there with names over the doors. Pat and Mike. She added the rest of the rhyme instantly. "Pat and Mike, they look alike." The twins would love that. So would Roger, for all his sophistication, and Mary for all her simplicity. Don Carey was a born schemer. There was no other word for it. But she had missed dinner with him anyway.

It got dark and still they didn't come. The phone rang and it was Tony. The sound of his voice was sheer music to her ears. She wanted him to come over at once.

He laughed. Yes, he actually laughed. He had a better idea and wanted her to join him downtown. They could eat or dance or go to a theater—anything she wanted. She agreed instantly. If they could go out and leave the house wide open she could do the same thing. As in all English basement houses, the ground floor windows were barred, and that was enough.

The telephone rang as she was leaving but she laughed at it. She had already gotten everything she wanted from the telephone. Outside in the street she could hear it ringing, and she laughed again as she hailed a taxi. Tony had said she must come in a taxi. That and his quick laugh had told her something big must have happened to him.

The cab driver threw her a grin as they waited for a light. "You must be very happy. You laugh as if you meant it."

"I do. I'm going to meet my fiancé."

"He's a lucky guy, whether he knows it or not."

"I feel I am lucky, too. He's a lawyer."

"No wonder. Them guys make dough. Plenty of it. All you gotta do is save the right guy's neck. Lookit that guy Burns they caught red-handed in them moiders the other day. He's got plenty. A smart lawyer saves him from the hot squat an he's made. The do, re mi, just flows into your pockets. I wish I was a lawyer."

"But you wouldn't fight to save a gangster like that Burns?"

"Why not? Money is money. Do I ask you where you get the dough to pay me? No I say, 'Thank you, ma'am.' When you got it you get it. I heard a big shot tellin' somebody that the other night. Livin' where you flagged me, you must know Judge Clancy. He runs that political club an' he's smart. He was tellin' this young lawyer. He's a guy I used to go to school with. He was gonna set the world on fire but he's havin' trouble now. You gotta get the breaks. Me, I make more than he does. But he can get the breaks while all I am is a hick to the day I die. You might know Tony Raymond."

She spoke very quietly. "Tony better than any note."

She was no longer rigid as she stared in frank amazement.

"You lent Tony Raymond five thousand dollars?"

Don smiled. "I was most happy to accommodate him."

She caught her breath. "What could he want that much money for?"

"I didn't ask, Anne, but he did say it was for office expenses."

"How can he repay that much money? Don, why did you let him have it? No wonder he hasn't come to see me."

"He has been very busy, Anne."

"You mean he has really had a case? A real case in court?"

"Don't you really know, Anne? Haven't you seen the evening papers?"

wiring and old connections increase resistance. That's where a relay which allows more direct feed from battery to lights is desirable. It serves a purpose entirely different from that of the voltage and current regulator.

Q. I have been told that the reason the engine of my car is using so much oil is because the new block I had installed shortly after the war was "soft." Is there such a thing as a soft block? N. M.

A. There was quite a run of soft blocks after the war. These are the kind which have not been sufficiently "seasoned." However, your low oil mileage could be due to poor relays. Sketch is enclosed. H. S.

A. There is no need for any booster on a motor that is properly tuned and in normal condition. You will find that actually it would be desirable to install one of the special electrical devices for cutting down the primary current in cold weather so as to prevent the formation of blue oxide on the breaker points.

Q. Why is it that after driving slowly in high gear as in heavy traffic the engine backs when I try to accelerate? It seems to load up with gas, although I have leaned out the idling mixture. Recently the acceleration pump of the carburetor rebuilt but this hasn't helped. Any ideas? T. K. C.

A. The first thing that occurs to me is that the motor is pumping oil and that when you run slowly several of the spark plugs become temporarily fouled. There might also be valve stickage.

Q. What would cause the engine to go dead suddenly, and then start up again? Often happens on turns. The fuel pump is new. J. M. Jr.

A. Looks like a case of carburetor float stickage.

Mr. Russell will answer questions regarding the safe care and operation of your car. Just address him at 254 Fern street, West Hartford, 7, Conn., and enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope for a personal reply. There is no charge.

"Do you expect to provide two stables to keep the ponies in?"

"My stable has plenty of room for them."

"And of course your house has plenty of room for the children."

"Of course. And you."

He said it lightly and his eyes were still laughing, but she stopped smiling and drew a deep steady breath. Her voice came softly but firmly.

"I don't think your mother would approve of your plans, Don."

"As a matter of fact, the ponies were her suggestion at the time I came back from Montana."

"Don, I am serious. Roger and the twins want you here all the time, but be kind enough to come quite empty-handed for a while. I mean with nothing at all. Test the twins and assure yourself that their welcome will be not one whit less enthusiastic."

"How beautifully you use words. Like your father."

"I'm sure you have a very good memory, Don. Remember I told you I loved Tony Raymond and was going to marry him."

"I have met Tony Raymond. I felt I should. We are friends now. Yes, I think he will say that, too, if you ask him."

She sat looking at him, her hands folded in her lap. "I suppose you know I haven't seen Tony since the day you brought the dogs."

"He told me he had been neglecting you."

"Then he knows you are coming here regularly."

"Of course. I feel I should tell him that."

He looked straight into her eyes. "You said I have a good memory, Anne. It is true. You told me you were going to marry Tony Raymond. When I realized how I felt about you I felt I had to get to know him. When I saw the kind of man he was I felt I should tell him I was coming here to see you."

She sat rigid. "Could you tell me what kind of man my fiancé is? I'm interested in your opinion, since you seem to have seen more of him lately."

"I'll give you that gladly. When he asked me to lend him five thousand dollars on a personal note, I was happy to write out a check at once and tell him his word was

7,800 IN V.A. TO LOSE JOBS

Washington, March 4 (AP) — The Veterans Administration said Friday it is firing 7,800 employees because it lacks money to pay them.

The dismissals will be nationwide. Approximately 3,000 employees in hospitals and homes and 4,000 in other activities are included, VA said.

Managers of VA field stations will be told Monday of the number they will be required to release. Dismissal notices will be handed out by March 10.

A VA statement said immediate action is necessary because (1) the agency is short of salary funds for the rest of the current fiscal year ending June 30; and (2) there would not be enough yard repairmen in the states, territories, defense base workers throughout the world, and employees of private industry in the District of Columbia.

Dinner reservations at $1.25 each may be made through Dr. Norman S. Wolf or the Rev. A. W. Geigley, Fairfield, not later than Sunday.

On Wednesday afternoon Rustin will speak at the college and seminary here.

MANY BELIEVE U.N. MEET IN MOSCOW IS OUT

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

The proposal by Senator McMahon of Conn. that the United Nations hold peace talks in Moscow, in an attempt to establish global controls over atomic weapons, is being received with mixed emotions.

Many observers are viewing the idea somewhat after the approach of the stage magician who starts his sleight-of-hand with the remark: "This is a good trick if I do it—and it's a good trick if I don't."

This is to say, the consensus is that every possible effort should be made to achieve peace and atomic control. However, there is a widespread feeling that hopes of a U.N. meeting in Moscow are nil.

Won't Go To Moscow

Apropos of this, President Truman yesterday told his news conference in Washington that he is for any plan to utilize the United Nations in preserving peace. He said he will cooperate in any move to maintain the peace, but that he never will go to Moscow as long as he is President. He didn't comment directly on the McMahon proposal.

The first barrier to carrying out the McMahon idea at this time is that Russia since January 10 has been boycotting thirteen organs of the United Nations over the red hot Chinese question. China still is represented in the U.N. by the Nationalist delegation despite the sweeping victories of the Chinese Communists. Moscow demands that the Nationalists be ejected from the U.N., and the Chinese Communists be given their place.

So long as this situation continues there is no chance of a Moscow meeting. The Chinese issue must be settled first and it is expected that a special Assembly meeting will be held in New York this spring to deal with the matter.

Titanic Job

Once the Chinese issue is settled, and Russia has abandoned her boycott of the U.N., the question of a meeting in Moscow could be taken up. But here again you come up against a stone wall.

The majority plan for atomic control by unlimited inspection of atomic plants in all countries has been approved by 49 of the 53 members of the U.N. Only the Soviet bloc has voted against it.

Russia agrees to inspection, but only in atomic plants and factories reported by a nation to the international authority. The Western nations say this would be useless because secret operations could take place. The Soviet replies that unlimited inspection would amount to espionage for the Western powers.

There are many who believe that it would be a good thing for all concerned if in due course there could be a meeting of the U.N. assembly in Moscow, and in other major capitals for that matter. However, the staging of such a meeting would be a titanic job, involving the transfer from Lake Success of an army of personnel and mountainous equipment. The cost also would be huge, though peace at any monetary price would be cheap.

REPUBLICANS CHALLENGING TRUMAN CLAIM

By JACK DELL

Washington, March 4 (P)—Republicans challenged Friday President Truman's assertion that he has taken the lead in rooting communists out of the government.

Instead, Senator Bricker (R-Ohio) said, the President had acted "only when Congress was so close on his heels he felt he had to do something."

Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) said Congress, not the President, "dug up the facts" about communists.

Miss Case Recalled

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) objected, too, to the President's news conference statement of yesterday that he alone has made any concrete effort to get at the bottom of the security problem arising from communists' activities in the government.

Mr. Truman didn't do anything about getting Alger Hiss out of the government, Ferguson observed.

Hiss, former State Department official who resigned to take a private job, was convicted of lying about meetings with an admitted communist courier who said he got secret government papers from Hiss.

Two Points Of View

The State Department had the facts about Hiss as early as 1945 but it didn't do anything about getting rid of him and there wasn't any prosecution until after the congressional hearings which Mr. Truman described as a "red herring," Ferguson said.

SEEK NEW PLAN ON U.S. POLICY

Washington, March 4 (P)—A plan designed to provide greater unity for the government's foreign and domestic economic policies was reported today to be under consideration at the White House.

The proposal, on which President Truman will have the final decision, was initiated in the State Department. This was in line with a belief of Secretary Acheson that the United States must prepare to fight the cold war in a more complete manner than it has heretofore.

It is understood that the proposal provides for an interdepartmental committee, composed of representatives of such agencies as state, treasury, commerce, and agriculture, which would function under White House direction. Provision is also made for a White House coordinator to direct the work of the committee.

Acheson and some other high government officials have argued that a realignment of American domestic economic policies in some degree is necessary to make this nation's foreign economic policies fully effective.

For example, he favors tariff reductions and other measures which would open up American markets to greater sales of foreign goods. The idea is to promote prosperity and economic stability in other areas, especially western Europe.

Speculation

Speculation persisted that the committee might decide to compromise on its "recommendation" by picking Musmanno for lieutenant governor and Ruth for secretary of internal affairs.

Such a development would edge Coroner William D. McClelland of Allegheny county off the ticket entirely. McClelland, although an announced candidate for Governor, is understood to be willing to settle for a lesser place on the slate.

PA. DEMOCRATS DELAY AGAIN ON SLATING ACTION

By LEONARD A. UNGER

Harrisburg, March 4 (P)—Top Democratic leaders today took another week's breathing spell to settle differences on a statewide ticket for the 1950 campaign.

Disagreement on candidates for lieutenant governor and justice of the State Supreme court forced postponement of a slate-endorsing action until next Friday.

The 13-man Democratic policy committee virtually approved yesterday's "recommendation" by the State Supreme court, forced postponement of a slate-endorsing action until next Friday.

Speculation persisted that the committee might decide to compromise on its "recommendation" by picking Musmanno for lieutenant governor and Ruth for secretary of internal affairs.

Such a development would edge Coroner William D. McClelland of Allegheny county off the ticket entirely. McClelland, although an announced candidate for Governor, is understood to be willing to settle for a lesser place on the slate.

Speculation persisted that the committee might decide to compromise on its "recommendation" by picking Musmanno for lieutenant governor and Ruth for secretary of internal affairs.

MANY BELIEVE U.N. MEET IN MOSCOW IS OUT

East Berlin

East Berlin—Mr. and Mrs. Stewart E. Sheffer entertained last week-end their elder daughter, Miss M. Faye Hereter, assistant supervisor of nurses at St. Peter's hospital, New Brunswick, N. J.

Wilson A. Streightiff has returned to Shippensburg State Teachers' college after a brief visit with his mother, Mrs. Hester E. Streightiff, and his grandfather, Elisha M. Wilson.

The Senior Girl Scout group of this section sponsored a public roller skating party Friday evening at the Forest Park rink near Hanover.

Many observers are viewing the fete somewhat after the approach of the stage magician who starts his light-of-hand with the remark: "This is a good trick if I do it—nd it's a good trick if I don't."

That is to say, the consensus is that every possible effort should be made to achieve peace and atomic control. However, there is a widespread feeling that hopes of a U.N. meeting in Moscow are nil.

Won't Go To Moscow

Apropos of this President Truman yesterday told his news conference in Washington that he is for any plan to utilize the United Nations in preserving peace. He said he will cooperate in any move to maintain the peace, but that he never will go to Moscow as long as he is President. He didn't comment directly on the McMahon proposal.

The first barrier to carrying out the McMahon idea at this time is that Russia since January 10 has been boycotting thirteen organs of the United Nations over the red and Chinese question. China still is represented in the U.N. by the Nationalist delegation despite the sweeping victories of the Chinese Communists. Moscow demands that the Nationalists be evicted from the U.N. and the Chinese Communists be given their place.

So long as this situation continues there is no chance of a Moscow meeting. The Chinese issue must be settled first and it is expected that a special Assembly meeting will be held in New York this spring to deal with the matter.

Titanic Job

Once the Chinese issue is settled, and Russia has abandoned her boycott of the U.N., the question of a meeting in Moscow could be taken up. But here again you come up against a stone wall.

The majority plan for atomic control by unlimited inspection of atomic plants in all countries has been approved by 49 of the 59 members of the U.N. Only the Soviet bloc has voted against it.

Russia agrees to inspection, but only in atomic plants and factories reported by a nation to the international authority. The Western nations say this would be useless because secret operations could take place. The Soviet replies that unlimited inspection would amount to espionage for the Western powers.

There are many who believe that it would be a good thing for all concerned if in due course there could be a meeting of the U.N. Assembly in Moscow, and in other major capitals for that matter. However, the staging of such a meeting would be a titanic job, involving the transfer from Lake Success of an army of personnel and mountainous equipment. The cost also would be huge, though peace at any monetary price would be cheap.

Fairfield

Fairfield—Mrs. James Neely was hostess to the bridge club Monday evening. Prizes for high scores were won by Mrs. Robert McClellan and Mrs. Robert Wills. The club will meet in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Clarence Wilson.

The regular meeting of the NCCW of St. Mary's church will be held this evening in the church social rooms.

The regular meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Fairfield fire company will be held Thursday evening, March 9, in the fire hall. All members are asked to be present.

The IOOF of Fairfield held a social for members and guests in the lodge rooms Thursday evening.

The Missionary society of Zion Lutheran church met Tuesday evening in the parish house with Mrs. John Beard and Mrs. Blanche Linn in charge. The discussion topic was "Japan Faces a New Day."

The fire company president George Steinberger presided at the regular meeting held Wednesday evening in the fire hall. Joseph Bowling and Kenneth Dearborn were voted into membership. Earl Musselman, general chairman of the bazaar held in February, reported that the amount cleared was $799. Fire Chief Harper Hiner reported that the 500 feet of hose and other accessories purchased recently were received and have been placed on the fire truck.

TO GET PIE IN FACE

Lancaster, Pa., March 4 (AP)—John Debolt, director of admissions at Franklin & Marshall college, is going to get a lemon merengue pie right in the face and at a student assembly to boot. At a campus meeting yesterday to raise money for the World Student Service fund one undergraduate bid top price of $10 for the chance to heave a pie at Debolt.

Lebanon, Pa., March 4 (AP)—Emanuel Hill, of Harrisburg, was exonerated by a coroner's jury yesterday of any criminal negligence in the death of Harry Thompson, 45, Elizabethtown, R. 3, last February 20. Thompson was crushed between the bumper of Hill's truck and a tractor on the Pennsylvania turnpike extension project near Colebrook.

REPUBLICANS CHALLENGING TRUMAN CLAIM

By JACK DELL

Washington, March 4 (AP)—Republicans challenged Friday President Truman's assertion that he has taken the lead in rooting communists out of the government.

Instead, Senator Bricker (R-Ohio) said, the President had acted "only when Congress was so close on his heels he had to do something."

Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) said Congress, not the President, "dug up the facts" about communists.

Hiss Case Recalled

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) objected, too, to the President's news conference statement of yesterday that he alone has made any concrete effort to get at the bottom of the security problem arising from communist activities in the government.

Mr. Truman didn't do anything about getting Alger Hiss out of the government, Ferguson observed.

Hiss, former State Department official who resigned to take a private job, was convicted of lying about meetings with an admitted communist courier who said he got secret government papers from Hiss.

Two Points Of View

The State Department had the facts about Hiss as early as 1945 but it didn't do anything about getting rid of him and there wasn't any prosecution until after the congressional hearings which Mr. Truman described as a "red hearing."

The combined glee clubs of the local high school will present the operetta, "A Waltz Dream," this evening at the high school auditorium for the public.

Orpheus W. Myers has been confined to his home with a severe cold.

Mrs. William Brown, who moved to town from Reading township last year after the death of her husband, has been quite ill this week and is unable to leave her home.

Bill Lerew, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Calvin Lerew, has returned to his studies at the local high school after being ill. His sister and brother, Jacqueline and Johnny, have also contracted severe colds.

John R. Wister was forced to remain away from his duties at the Peoples State bank during the week because of a heavy cold.

Major and Mrs. Robert Shaw, who recently moved to the Sebright property next to the Lutheran church, after residing for some time in Japan where he was stationed, made a trip to York recently. The Shaw's two daughters, Clara and Owen, are now attending the borough school.

Harold R. Shetter, son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Shetter, who has been granted a sick leave from Trinity college, Hartford, Conn., and who was recently under treatment at the Marine hospital, Baltimore, is now convalescing at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Webb, St. Petersburg, Fla. The Webb's, formerly of Glyndon, Md., have been frequent visitors here. Harold Shetter's condition is reported improved.

For example, he favors tariff reductions and other measures which would open up American markets to greater sales of foreign goods. The idea is to promote prosperity and economic stability in other areas, especially western Europe.

PA. DEMOCRATS DELAY AGAIN ON SLATING ACTION

By LEONARD A. UNGER

Harrisburg, March 4 (AP)—Top Democratic leaders today took another week's breathing spell to settle differences on a statewide ticket for the 1950 campaign.

Disagreement on candidates for lieutenant governor and justice of the State Supreme court forced postponement of a slate-endorsing action until next Friday.

Speculation persisted that the committee might decide to compromise on its "recommendation" by picking Musmanno for lieutenant governor and Ruth for secretary of internal affairs.

Such a development would edge Coroner William D. McClelland of Allegheny county off the ticket entirely. McClelland, although an announced candidate for Governor, is understood to be willing to settle for a lesser place on the slate.

Myers Called to Capital

Myers and Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) had to leave the session early to go to Washington on coal crisis legislation.

A boondoggle designed to obtain endorsement for lieutenant governor for State Sen. Frank W. Ruth of Berks county stalled in the face of 11th hour pressure by labor organizations for Judge M. A. Musmanno of Allegheny county.

And Judge Michael J. Egan of Lackawanna county met with sudden opposition in his quest for endorsement for a seat on the State Supreme court.

The selection of a candidate for a vacancy on the State Supreme court was also left entirely in the air pending a decision on the Supreme court post.

The Musmanno candidacy for lieutenant governor was thrust almost forcefully into the laps of the Democratic policymakers by the labor delegations. They included CIO-United Steelworkers, United Mine Workers, AFL-Pittsburgh Central Labor union and the Brotherhood of Teamsters.

Two inmates have died recently at the House of Correction. Coroner Joseph Omitsky opened an inquest yesterday into the latest death.

The grand jury's critical appraisal of the House of Correction coincided with the coroner's investigation into the death of Irving Miller there nine weeks ago. Omitsky is seeking to discover if Miller's death resulted from the effects of steam leaking into his cell from pipes in the wall.

Guards testified that steam leaks in the cell block where Miller was kept had been noticed a year ago, but had not been reported upon.

PTA PLANNING GROUP NAMED

Monthly meeting of the Parent-Teacher association of Emmitsburg public school was held Thursday evening in the school library due to the coal shortage. George Wilhite, vice president of the association, presided in the absence of Andrew Eyster. Plans were made to purchase a movie projector for the school. The food sale on February 11 was reported to have cleared $137.

A discussion was held concerning the decision of the school board and the county commissioners to build additions to three schools in the county, one of which will be Emmitsburg. Special thanks was expressed to George Martin, a member of the school board and Samuel Hays, both having a great deal to do with the decision of the group to include Emmitsburg. For over a year this has been the aim of the Parent-Teacher association. No date has been set for the work to begin but plans include a cafeteria, home economics room, library and two locker rooms, and a gymnasium-auditorium.

Appoint Committee

A school planning committee was appointed to work on the building project. The committee include all of the P.T.A. officers, members of the faculty, Sam Hays, George Martin, Weldon Shank, and others who might be suggested.

An interesting talk was given by Col. Thomas Frailey on "Character."

Winners of the attendance banner include Mrs. Harold Hoke, Mrs. A. L. Leary, and Mrs. Henry Charlton's homerooms, there being a three way tie between the respective rooms.

The driveway leading into the school will be covered with stones sometime in the near future. On Friday, March 31, the next meeting of the P.T.A. will be held.

After the devotions a program was given informing the members of the status of the Japan Lutheran church and how it supplemented this year's interdenominational mission study class on Japan. "A Recording from Japan" gave a picture of the work there. The recordings were given by the following members: Mrs. Charles Linn, Mrs. Charles Bushman, Mrs. Morris Zentz, Mrs. Ervin Brown, Mrs. George Eyster, Mrs. Robert Gillean and Mrs. Charles Harner. A social hour followed with light refreshments. In keeping with the program, Japanese dishes were used and a few Japanese articles were displayed.

Bullet Grapplers Take Middle Atlantic Title For 2nd Year; Riegel Voted As Outstanding

Coach Clyde Cole's Gettysburg college wrestling team closed its most successful season in history Saturday by winning the Middle Atlantic States wrestling championship for the second successive year.

The Bullets compiled 33 points in gaining the title. Other team scores were: Swarthmore, 23; Haverford, 19; Bucknell, 16; Delaware, 14; Ursinus, 14; Muhlenberg, 10, and Lafayette, 9.

Russ Riegel, 155, won his fourth straight tournament title by gaining a 4-1 decision in the final Saturday night over Ruppert Bing, Lafayette. Riegel was also named as the outstanding wrestler of the tournament, having gained similar honors in 1947. The Bullet ace lost but one match during his entire collegiate career.

Gettysburg's four finalists left little doubt as to their ability as they took command in each bout and were clearly the superior of their opponents.

Johnny Loose, 121, Jimmy Woods, 128; Dick Sassman, 136, and Riegel all won their final matches by decisions.

Sassman's work in the tournament was particularly noteworthy. On Friday when he was entering the field house he fell on the steps severely bruising and lacerating his nose and lips. He was taken to the infirmary, returned to win his preliminary match Friday evening, and then re-entered the infirmary to remain there until the semi-finals and finals. In winning over Ben Fusuro, Swarthmore, in the final, he handed Fusuro his first defeat of the year.

In the consolation bouts Saturday evening, Fred Hoenniger, 145, of the Bullets, lost to Miller, Ursinus, 6-0; Sout, 165, lost to Mamaray, Lafayette, 5-0; Bud Diehl, 175, won from Evans, Muhlenberg, in the preliminary and then defaulted to Paris, Delaware, due to an injury.

Jack Hershberger, heavyweight, won over Hill, Swarthmore, by default in the preliminary and won from Scheil, Muhlenberg, 9-3 in the final consolation.

During the season the Bullets won nine dual affairs, losing only to Princeton and Franklin and Marshall.

Gettysburg's title was its fourth since 1936.

Jeffery Gries, son of Frederic E. Gries, Flora Dale, who gained the final in the 175-pound division for Swarthmore, lost to Bill Rodewald, Haverford, in the championship affair on a referee's decision after a particularly close affair. Rodewald won the 175 division crown in 1949.

Final summaries:

121-pound class—John Loose, Gettysburg, won by decision over Marshal Goulding, Bucknell, 4-2.

128-pound class—Jim Wood, Gettysburg, decision over John Dodge, Haverford, 6-3.

136-pound class—Dick Sassman, Gettysburg, decision over Ben Fusuro, Swarthmore, 6-2.

145-pound class—Grover Cadwalader, Haverford, won on a referee's decision over George Stanton, Bucknell.

153-pound class—Russ Riegel, Gettysburg, decision over Ruppert Bing, Lafayette, 4-1.

165-pound class—George Schmauch, Muhlenberg, decision over Rudi, Swarthmore, 2-0.

175-pound class—Bill Rodewald, Haverford, won on a referee's decision over Jeff Gries, Swarthmore.

Unlimited—Bill Heffernan, Ursinus, decision over Ted Youngling, Delaware, 2-1.

Semifinal Round:

121—Marshal Goulding, Bucknell, winner Stan Person, Lafayette, John Loose, Gettysburg, decision Mike Laws, Swarthmore.

128—John Dodge, Haverford, decision Charles Kinsman, Lafayette; Jim Woods, Gettysburg, pinned Ken Hopkins, Delaware.

136—Ben Fusuro, Swarthmore, decision Tom Runk, Delaware. Dick Sassman, Gettysburg, decision Wenzell Stansby, Bucknell.

145—George Stanton, Bucknell, pinned Charles Carr, Delaware. Grover Cadwalader, Haverford, decision Ted Miller, Ursinus.

BEDENK QUILTS AT PENN STATE

State College, Pa., March 6 (UPI)—Pennsylvania State college is looking for a new football coach for the second time within a year.

Joe Bedenk resigned as head coach yesterday because he felt the full burden of coaching football and baseball was "too much for one man."

Dr. Carl P. Schott, dean of the school of physical education and athletics, announced the athletic advisor board had approved a plan to place Earl Bruce, freshman mentor, in charge of spring practice. Schott said the college would wait for applications to flow in before taking up the matter of a successor to Bedenk, who coached Penn State lines for 20 years before assuming the head coach job last season.

Bedenk succeeded Bob Higgins, who was asked to be relieved of the post, because of ill health following two seasons in which State won 16, lost one and tied one. Last year the Nittany Lions again were rated high, but hampered by injuries to key players, posted only a five-victory, four-defeat season.

A college spokesman said Bedenk has been wanting to get out of football for some time and devote his time to his first love baseball.

The likeable former Penn State star athlete has been diamond coach at his alma mater for 19 years. Last season his team won 19 of 24 games and went to the final round of the National Collegiate Athletic Association District 2 eliminations.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and

The Gettysburg Times

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO

True to character. March came in like a "blustering rafter." The storm of wind on Friday was unusually severe and did considerable damage, by unroofing buildings and prostrating fences, etc., in all this region of country. On Sunday we had a considerable fall of snow; and the cold on Monday morning would do honor to mid-winter.

We give a correct copy of Mr.

Thaddeus Stevens' speech in the House of Representatives on the Slavery question. Mr. Stevens says the North American, always speaks boldly, eloquently and powerfully, and his present effort is remarkable for condensation, vigor, point and brilliance. However much, under ordinary circumstances, we might regret the agitation of the exciting topic to which he mainly addressed himself, in view of the insane and treasonable exhibitions which have been made by Southern members

since the opening of the present

Congress, we admire and thank him for the truthful, masterly and manly exposition he has produced; and we recommend his speech to the earnest attention of all who, in this crisis, desire to save the country from the deplorable ills which could not fail to follow any further extension of an institution which has already brought upon us so many troubles.

The mail stage was upset three times between Ennibruff and

Frederick during the storm of Friday.

**

On Monday, Mr. Smyser presented a petition asking for the passage of a law for the abolition of punishment by death.

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

On Saturday, the 27th inst., there was re-union of the family of Mr.

NEW CONTRACT SENDS MINERS BACK TO PITS

By STERLING F. GREEN

Washington, March 6 (P.T.)—The signing of a new contract sent soft coal miners swarming back to the pits today—ending a serious threat to the nation's economy and promising peace in the coal fields for months to come.

For the miners, the prize they won was a $140 daily "package" per man, plus a reasonable assurance of fairly steady work for at least a year and perhaps until the middle of 1952. For the operators, it means getting back into business.

For the public, the settlement means relief from a four-week strike, rescue from a looming industrial breakdown, and some assurance of stability in what President Truman has called a "sick industry." plus higher coal bills.

$250,000,000 Cost

One operator put the cost of the United Mine Workers gains at $250,000,000 this year. The extra cost to consumers may be anywhere from 25 to 50 cents a ton.

The strike-settling contract was signed by UMW President John L. Lewis and the spokesman for all major groups of operators—north, west, the reluctant south, and the steel-owned can't group—at 5 p.m. (EST) Saturday.

Lewis told newsmen: "The United Mine Workers have again accomplished the impossible." Then he let the word be flashed to the 370,000 strikers: "All mines will resume work."

This time there was no defiance.

Gas Pressure Like Rock in Stomach

One Gettysburg man stated that for 10 years he felt like he had a rock in his stomach. This feeling was due to the lump of undigested food he always had inside of him. His food would turn to gas. Recently he started taking CERTA-VIN and says the feeling like a rock in his stomach disappeared the second day. Now his food agrees with him, no more gas and he feels like a new man.

CERTA-VIN is a new scientific formula. It is taken before meals and works with your food, thus you get the fullest good out of your meals. It contains Ten Great Herbs plus Vitamin B and Iron. It not only relieves gas, it also makes the nerves stronger with Vitamin B and enriches the blood with iron. Miserable people soon feel better all over. So don't go on suffering! of a back-to-work order. There was a contract, there would be work. In many districts the jubilant miners have wanted formal meetings and back-to-work votes. Until now they had defied orders to go back from both Lewis and the Federal Court.

Local officials hurried the movement by radio broadcasts in some towns. Maintenance men hustled back to some pits before the ink was fair: dry.

Some pits were ready by midnight to start pouring black energy into the fuel-starved economy. But it may be 10 days before all of an estimated 225,000 laid-off men in coal-dependent industries, such as railroads and steel will be back on the job.

Peace in the anthracite industry seemed just ahead, but thus far futile talks in New York are being moved to Washington, probably on Tuesday. Now that the soft coal dispute is ended, an anthracite agreement may be achieved within the week, industry and union sources predicted.

Lewis called the contract: "A reasonable assurance that for a

Three facts should be stressed in the task of ordering and planting this fruit: (1) Stock should be purchased from a reliable nursery to

RUSSIA HOLDS ADVANTAGE IN SUDDEN ATTACK

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, March 6 (AP)—Here's people into a war they didn't want. But times have changed, as this story has tried to point out, because of the advantage that would go to the one who attacked first with hydrogen bombs.

Just because times have changed, in this same democratic process, the wide open declaration of war by Congress, might in the next war mean the end of the republic by giving the enemy a chance to attack first.

What could be done to be sure we weren't attacked first? As commander-in-chief of the armed forces the President, if he thought the danger existed, might try to save the country by ordering our bombers to start the war and attack Russia without waiting for congressional action.

Right Be Impaired

Yet, if he did so, he might be impeached by Congress. Whether that happened, of course, would depend upon Congress and the people's intent after the war started.

On the other hand, suppose he knew an attack was coming but, through fear of impeachment, let it come preferring to let Congress go through the comparatively slow and painful process of declaring war.

In a case like that, it's possible he might be impeached for failing to take the necessary steps first to save the nation if any congressmen were left alive after the enemy attacked here.

If you think these questions are far-fetched, Senator McMahon, Connecticut Democrat, made a Senate speech in which, speaking of future

M'SHERRY BOY IN HOSPITAL

Baltimore, March 6 (AP)—A 13-year-old Rouzerille, Pa., boy, afflicted with a usually fatal disease is under observation of Johns Hopkins hospital specialists.

Melvin McSherry, Jr., has what medical authorities call "cystic fibrosis of the pancreas," which caused continual chest infections. Medical men said yesterday children with the malady generally die before 14.

The Johns Hopkins doctors can't get at Melvin's "basic" disease so are fighting a by-product of his ailment with atremycin. That's one of the recently-discovered drugs which attack infections.

Hopkins physicians pointed out the strategy of fighting the rare disease amounts to holding down the dangerous chest infections as long as possible and hope for research developments in the meantime which may enable doctors to get at the root of the trouble.

Doctors have found Melvin's infections improved. He is scheduled to return for further checks in a month to six weeks.

The treatments are being paid for by sympathetic strangers. The Federation of Clubs of Franklin county have set up a $500 fund for medical expenses. An unnamed benefactor gave the McSherry family several hundred dollars last fall when their financial means neared exhaustion.

AD EXECUTIVE DIES

Philadelphia, March 6 (AP)—A 50-year-old advertising executive was killed in a 13-story plunge from his office suite in a midcity building, police reported. Lawrence L. Everling, head of a firm bearing his name, landed on a second-floor skylight yesterday. Everling entered the building about three hours before his fatal plunge. He is survived by a wife and three children.

Hungarian Request Is Rejected By U.S.

Washington, March 6 (AP)—The United States has rejected a Hungarian request that it consider reducing its diplomatic staff at Budapest. It also accused Communist Hungary of damaging relations between Hungary and the United States.

The Department announced that an American note was delivered by the legation in Budapest to the Foreign Affairs ministry. It was a reply to a communist government note of Feb. 23 asking that United States consider slashing the legation rolls.

The Hungarian request was based on communist spy charges against the legation made during the recent trial of American businessman

Robert Vogeler. The United States again assailed those charges as "preposterous falsehoods."

Because of the nature of the Vogeler trial and the "groundless charges" against the legation staff, the American note said, the inquiries in the Hungarian note as to whether the United States would consider reducing its legation staff were "improper and irrelevant."

BONUS PERIL TO FEDERAL GRANT

from veterans on relief. The federal government has the authority to cut off relief aid to any state which fails to meet its assistance requirements.

It is a question of how to arrange our regulations to comply with the Justice decision and be in conformity with federal and requirements. Robbins explained.

The exact number of veterans on relief who will get bonus checks is not known, Robbins said, but he estimated it will be a "substantial" number.

State officials have at least 11 days to prepare assistance regulations governing veterans which will be compatible with born-state federal laws as the actual bonus payments are not scheduled to begin until after March 17.
